FOR RACE AND NATION

BRITAIN IN CRISIS

IT IS NO WONDER that John Major is the most unpopular Prime Minister in British history. Having been defeated in the Commons over his own Maastricht motion, he narrowly survived a confidence motion by using brutal methods of intimidation and political blackmail against his colleagues. The real relationship between the Prime Minister and his cabinet was revealed last month when an unscrupulous journalist leaked an off-the-record statement by Major to the effect that he regarded three of his ministers as 'bs' for opposing the Maastricht Treaty.

But Maastricht is not the only problem which has divided the Conservative Party. The Tories have led Britain into crisis and chaos.

FAILURE

On the economic front, the Conservative Government been a disastrous failure since it came to office in 1979. Unemployment has never fallen below a million since this time, and has twice exceeded three million. The fact that the Tories have fiddled the figures in eighteen different ways cannot disguise the truth that millions of Britons are experiencing the misery of having no job, and in many cases no home.

MEDDLING IN BOSNIA

Meanwhile, to distract attention from his domestic failure, Major is wasting taxpayers money and British servicemen's lives on meddling in the civil war in Bosnia. There are no British interests at stake in Bosnia, and it is quite clear that the various national groups there cannot live together. Our own experience in Britain has proved that different ethnic groups cannot live together in peace for any length of time in the same state, and to try and force them to do so in Bosnia will simply prolong the conflict there.

The British army in any case has a far more important task nearer to home — namely, the extermination of the IRA. The recent bomb-attack in Bournemouth, along with the continuing terrorist activity in Ulster itself, are the result of the Government's weakness over the Ulster question. The Anglo-Irish agreement, and countless summit meetings with Dublin only serve to encourage the terrorists, who realise that they are eroding Britain's will to govern Ulster.

The IRA could be wiped out within 24 hours if the British Government would allow the security forces to do the job.

SOFT ON CRIME

But the truth is, this Government is as soft on terrorism as it is on other forms of violent crime. Time and again we hear of vicious rapists, child-molesters and even murderers being set free to re-offend. Car thieves and burglars know that there is little chance of being sent to prison even if they are caught, and we hear of individual teenage tearaways being responsible for thousands of such crimes.

The Tories have alienated the police by commissioning the Sheehy Report, threatening police pay and conditions at a time when morale is already at an all-time low. The police feel they are being let down by the weakness of the courts and the legal system which allows criminals to escape punishment. The vast majority of policemen agree with the British National Party's plan to restore capital and corporal punishment.

TIME FOR TORIES TO GO

Of course, tougher penalties will not in themselves halt the crimewave. We need to restore young people's pride in their country, and offer them a genuine stake in Britain's future. Only the British National Party can do this; that is why we say it is time for John Major and his Government to go.

JOHN MAJOR appears to be learning to eat Chinese food — perhaps in anticipation of inviting millions of Hong Kong 'refugees' into Britain over the next few months.

His difficulty mastering chop sticks is nothing compared with the trouble he has had in learning elementary economics, where his manifest failure has led to the biggest balance of payments deficit in British history, mass unemployment and the destruction of our industrial base. To add to his economic failings, Major is clearly out of his depth in political matters, as demonstrated by his description of his ministers as "bs"

BNP in by-election alert LONDON UNITS IN MASSIVE VOTES DRIVE

BRITISH National Party activists are in the midst of a local government by-election blitz which should result in a crop of good results.

The Party has just contested three seats in Lancashire (the results of which will be announced next month) and in London is fighting a seat in the Millwall ward, where last year the BNP picked up a massive twenty per cent of the vote.

Since last year's twenty per cent breakthrough, the BNP has been building up a bandwagon of support and votes which has seriously alarmed the Establishment parties and their alien masters.

Candidates in the General and local elections since then have been picking up some excellent results, and the Party is now gaining new supporters and activists daily.

'DEMOCRACY' AT WORK

Nothing has shown up politicians like the way they've handled Maastricht.

They realise they've got to prevent the issue being put to the British people, and every ploy has been used to this end.

In other countries there's been a slightly different view. In most of continental Europe the people have been given some sort of referendum, however much of a mockery it has been turned into by heavy pressure from high places for a 'yes' vote.

Most outrageous was the way that when the Danes said "no" Europe's 'democratic' rulers, led by John Major, refused to take this for an answer. Denmark was pressured into a second vote. No doubt, had the 'no' vote been repeated there would have been a third, and so on until all opposition had been ground down.

At home, John Major saw to it that any move towards a referendum was stopped dead.

To make victory doubly sure, the further strategy of the pro-Maastricht brigade has been to line up as many tame hacks in the media as possible to get to work on the minds of the despised mass of the British. The aim has been to promote ignorance by promoting boredom, a standard trick for sidelining the people whenever our 'democratic' Establishment wants to ram through any measure they know would get a thumbs-down if put to the public in any honest vote.

The man and woman in the street are given to understand that the Maastricht treaty is too dry to hold their interest, if not too heavy for them to understand. In any case, they are told, the whole thing is the wave of the future which no one has a chance of resisting. No reason is given for this, of course, the Euro-maniacs no doubt hope this will be a self-fulfilling prophecy if they can reduce enough people to apathy by getting them to believe it.

With the British people thus cut out of the picture the matter was left in the lap of Britain's MPs. Just how much Britons can expect from these people was shown in the Commons last autumn when the House voted as to whether the Maastricht bill should go forward. Mr Major lined up his party whips to lean on anti-EC 'rebels' — literally. Big bouncer types among the Tory whips were posted outside the 'No' lobby when the vote was called to intimidate party rebels and stop them entering! It worked. Most 'rebels' lamely surrendered to the pressure and failed to vote according to their convictions.

Before the vote likely commons rebels were got at in various ways. Tories were told loyalty to their party came first. If Major lost the vote, and the social chapter was put into the treaty, the Government might but put at risk, and with it some of their own seats. Outside the Tory party Ulster Unionists were bribed with the prospect of concessions on the running of their Province. They were asked by Mr Major to commit treason to Britain for the sake of minor gains on their own patch. What a choice for any British Prime Minister to put to any loyal Briton!

But such is 'democracy'.

No one should be under any illusions as to what Maastricht means. It is the last act in the clamping of a tightly centralized tyranny on the whole of Europe. If it goes ahead, Britain will be buried for good. As things are, we live under a system which is ready to allow this; if Britain is to have a future a new order of things is needed.

BRITAIN DEFENCELESS!

Half the Navy sunk by vicious round of Tory defence cuts

As part of the most vicious defence cuts in modern times, Tory Defence Secretary Malcolm Rifkind has just axed one in seven of Britain's warships. At least four submarines, five frigates and nine mine-sweepers are to go. The Royal Navy will be at its weakest for 300 years.

SENIOR SERVICE

Over the centuries, senior service has seen off the Spanish Armada and Napoleon's navy at Trafalgar. But when Rifkind's cuts take effect it will barely be capable of mounting a fisheries protection operation.

Scarcely 130 operational warships are likely to survive. Woe betide us if ever some foreign power decided to take a lunge at Britons abroad the way that Argentina did against our kith and kin in the Falklands back in 1982! With no navy worth the name we would be left powerlessly wringing our hands whilst our own people were pillaged, raped and murdered.

Nor would this island be left with much hope of defending its vital overseas lifelines in the event that the powers of the 'New World Order' took issue with the policies of some future British Government, and got the UN attack to put this country Iraq-style.

ENEMY POWERS

For let it be plain in British people's minds: Despite what they're trying to tell us, the fact that the Soviet Union has collapsed and the so-called 'cold war' is over doesn't mean that the world is no longer full of people and powers that hate our guts!

Quite the contrary. There are many potential enemies of Britain left in the world who might have to be deterred, if not physically fought off. The Government seems to have forgotten that the price of national survival remains eternal vigilance.

What is alarming is the way that elements of real quality in our armed forces seem to be a prime target of the Defence Secretary. One example of this is the RAF's 23 squadron, based in North Yorkshire but currently flying over Bosnia. The axing of the unit will leave Britain with only six squadrons of the sophisticated jet to defend our own airspace.

At the same time, Britain's missile air defences are to be chopped. Plans for a new hi-tech missile are to be scrapped so that the nation's defences will have to limp on with only the ancient Bloodhound rocket to protect us against air attack.

THE ARMY

The army, too, is to suffer. The uprating of the Challenger II tanks is to be stopped. Two regiments have already been equipped with improved fire power, but the other six tank regiments, essential to Britain's military capability, are to be left as they are, supposedly whilst Mr. Rifkind, whose ministerial competence has long been a matter of doubt, chews over the best way of arming them to meet current needs. No time limit appears to have been put on his deliberations.

The cuts, which follow upon the earlier abolition of Britain's defence capacity, including the abolition and merger of famous regiments, are not only being felt as a kick in the teeth by our servicemen. They will also cause massive unemployment among civilian workers in the defence industries. Portsmouth dockyard is still reeling from 2,000 job losses earlier this year. Now it is facing yet more.

Plymouth, the historic home of the Royal Navy from which 400 years ago the fleet set forth to battle the Spanish Armada, will be devastated as both service personnel and civilian workers are fired.

REDUNDANCIES

As defence projects are axed there will be a knock-on leading to yet more mass redundancies in back-up industries. Britain is in danger of losing the essential skills needed for defence production.

The whole thing is being sold to the public as a cost-cutting exercise. But at the same time, as sections of the armed forces vital to Britain are being given the chop, Rifkind is keeping on a number of worthless military commitments that are both costly and add nothing to Britain's defence whatever. One of these is the British forces in Germany, which is now a sovereign power friendly to Britain in no way endangered militarily by any other country on its borders and in no need at all of protection by outsiders.

If Rifkind wanted to save on defence, he could probably get all the economies he wanted by bringing home our troops from Germany. If they were relocated in Ulster they could help in wiping out the IRA, with a real political will behind it this operation would take no time at all to complete. Not only would final victory in Ulster stop the bleeding of public funds that has gone on for the last 25 years. It would also put a stop to the ongoing losses of both military and civilian lives.

Further savings on both money and lives could be brought about by pulling British forces out of UN so-called 'peace-keeping' operations which have nothing to do with Britain's well-being whether in Bosnia, or the Gulf. It is unlikely that the latter will be closed down. Not least Rifkind and many of his fellow politicians have deep personal reasons for wanting to protect the interests of the ugly and vicious little Middle Eastern bandit state of Israel.

STRENGTHENING BRITAIN

At the end of the day the best savings could be achieved by simply using Britain's forces in Britain's interests. Far from being cut, our Army, Navy and Air Force should be increased. They might then be disposed both at home and abroad in such a way as to bolster our national aims around the world. By strengthening Britain and raising her international status they might become a very good long-term investment.

In the long run only strong nations grow prosperous.

THE TORIES have already hammered the Army, and are now proceeding to dismantle Britain's Navy as part of a short-sighted cost-cutting exercise. Under the Navy's present strength, Britain's defence is gravely compromised

THE UNEMPLOYMENT TIMEBOMB

Why mass immigration spells doom for British workers

ILLEGAL IMMIGRANT Arinola Araba has landed a plumb job — in an unemployment benefit office! She lied to get into Britain from Nigeria in August 1989, claiming she was a holidaymaker. When her 6-month permit expired, she lied again, falsely claiming she needed to stay to study for medical exams. Her real intention was to get a job in the NHS, but when that failed she claimed the dole. Meanwhile, a benefits officer befriended her and tipped her off about the job vacancy at Kirkdale Road dole office, Leytonstone, East London. When questioned by police, Araba named FOUR other illegals working in the same office. She has now made an application for 'political asylum' which could keep her in this country for another two years.

OFFICIAL sources at the Department of Employment admit that all Commonwealth citizens under the age of 27 have now been given an automatic legal right to live and work in Britain for up to two years without a work permit.

LIMITED

At one time this right was effectively limited to people from Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and the other countries of the 'old' Commonwealth. Most of these were, of course, British by blood.

Even if it were true, as the Department claims, that strict work permit requirements are applied to all other migrants into Britain, this still makes anything up to 500 million people from far-flung places across the length and breadth of Afro-Asia eligible to come here.

It is not known how many of those who avail themselves of this right of temporary abode actually leave at the end of their two years' residence. Nor is it known to what extent the unwilling are made to return to their lands of origin when their term has expired.

RED CHINA

The first wave of would-be immigrants from Red China is now pitching up in Britain. Seven men pleading a right of asylum as 'political refugees' are currently at Haslar Holding Centre, Gosport, Hants. The centre has previously played host to a number of Kurdish and other Afro-Asian 'asylum' seekers. The Chinamen are currently being taught English by its Education Department.

Many of such third world gate-crashers to Britain have turned out to be 'economic' rather than political refugees who have in reality come here for the higher standard of living they have been led to believe this country can offer them as compared with their poverty-stricken homelands. Once here, many are recruited into the burgeoning cheap labour sweatshop economy which our politicians and businessmen are promoting, especially in the new ghetto districts of British towns and cities.

BILLION MIGRANTS

Behind the seven men at Haslar are another billion or so potential migrants back in mainland China.

Before the last general election the Tories promised the voters that they would introduce an Asylum Bill to stop immigrants like these abusing Britain's hospitality. The Bill they came up with has been held up and watered down in the House of Lords. But from the first the Government put little energy into getting their proposals through.

Clause 10 of the Asylum Bill removes the right of appeal for visitors refused an entry visa to Great Britain.

OPPONENTS

One of the strongest opponents of this clause was Lord Taylor, Lord Chief Justice of England. Lord Taylor claimed that asylum seekers might trace their cases to review by Judges if refused entry to Britain by the immigration authorities. Backed by his law Lord Colleague, Lord Woolf, he said this would make too much work for the courts. Being themselves men of Jewish immigrant stock both Lord Taylor and Lord Woolf are widely seen as having natural sympathies with the cause of the third world immigration into Britain.

One of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Criminal Justice, which is preparing the biggest shake-up of the system this century, is that judges should be given the power to veto all-white juries in cases where race is an issue.

Section 222 of the report says that it should be made possible for either defence or prosecution to apply to the judge in any such case for "the selection of a jury containing up to three people from ethnic minority communities." Section 223 states that it should be "open to the defence or prosecution to argue the need for one or more of the three jurors to come from the same ethnic minority as the defendant." In what are called "appropriate cases" the report recommends that judges should have the power to order this stacking of juries.

White defendants are to be given no rights at all when it comes to having a say in the composition of the juries before which they are tried. Going by the wording of the report, only ethnic minority members will be able to depart from the traditional principle of British justice that courts must take juries as they find them.

The reform as recommended is clearly intended to increase the chances of whites being criminalised, thus abolishing Britain's traditional impartial justice.

It is now being made more and more difficult for white men in Britain over the age of 35 even to apply for such jobs as are available. Agencies will no longer have them on their books. Employers will only take on the young.

This amounts to covert anti-white racial discrimination. The age profile of immigrant communities is over-whelmingly youthful. Because of Britain's low birth rate a much higher proportion of British people than immigrants is over 35 and therefore, on that ground alone, considered 'unemployable'.

ENDING IMMIGRATION

Ending immigration and setting repatriation in motion would go far to end this state of affairs. Older white men still of working age might then have some chance of finding jobs. It goes without saying that youth unemployment would also be greatly eased by these measures.

If the Government were serious about wanting to reduce unemployment, here is a way that they could do it at a stroke. But they refuse to do so, not least because big business wants a 'reserve army' of unemployed to cut labour costs. The recruitment of immigrant workers and the sacking of whites is a part of this strategy.

Only the BNP is prepared to stand up to big business for the benefit of the native British. It is the only party whose policy is to stop immigration, start repatriation and reserve British jobs for British people.

THEY'RE BRAIN-WASHING OUR KIDS!

THREE-year-old Portsmouth toddler Emma Jane Spratt recently became the latest victim of the race lobby's vicious 'thought police'.

When she was involved in a squabble with a Chinese boy over a toy, the Chinese child's mother phoned 999 and reported the incident to an Ethnic 'Welfare Group'.

OFFICIAL MACHINERY

Immediately the full weight of Portsmouth Labour council's official machinery was brought to bear on the tot. Her mother, Mrs Jane Magee, was summoned to the civic offices where a dead-pan bureaucrat asked her: "Is there any racism involved in this incident? Is your daughter a racist?"

Even Liberal democrat Hampshire County Councillor Mike Hancock, to whom angry Mrs. Magee complained, was forced to describe the situation as "outrageous."

DISGUSTING

Mrs Magee commented: "I think it is disgusting and we deserve an apology."

Whether she will get one is another matter. Portsmouth Council's rapid reaction against Mrs. Magee and her little girl reflects the official policy not just of the Labour-controlled City but of Hampshire County Council as well.

Hampshire Education Authority, dominated by Liberal Democrats and Tories, has long had a policy of 'monitoring' the racial attitudes of the County's school children. From infants' school upwards it has committed itself for some years to entering black marks against the names of small children held guilty of being 'racist'.

'MULTI-CULTURALISM'

In common with other authorities it has a policy of ramming compulsory 'multi-culturalism' down the throats of school pupils. This seems to have been calculated to wipe out the patriotic pride of young Britons, fitting them for extinction in some intended raceless population mish-mash of the future by trashing the history and achievements of their country and their ancestors. School books describing the greatness of Britain's past are now deliberately kept out of the classroom, and British youngsters are exposed to alien influences instead. These range from Indian cooking and Middle Eastern religious instruction to Reggae music and Malcolm X.

PERSECUTION

Meanwhile the persecution of our youngsters by the race-mixers for 'thought crime' now seems to reach from Land's End to John O'Groats. A five-year-old boy was carpeted a short while ago by school chiefs at Moredun Primary, Edinburgh for calling a half-caste Asian classmate "chocolate man." For this 'offence' Little Adam Knox had his name entered in an official 'racism log'. His furious mother stormed into the school and removed her boy from his lessons, keeping him off for several days.

LUNATICS

Increasingly our children would seem now to be under the control of twisted multi-racialist lunatics intent on using their power forcibly to subject Britain's young to their perverted and diseased vision.

It is high time for a vigorous response from Britain's parents.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD Adam Knox (above) was carpeted by Education chiefs for 'racist' remarks to a half-caste Asian. The spoof school dinners menu (left) was produced in response to the latest 'anti-racist' lunacy by Wirral Social Services in Cheshire. Left-wing agitators there are demanding that schools feed curry to nursery children to make them 'aware' of alien cultures. A Social Services spokesman said: "Sadly, even though we live in a multi-cultural society there are some young people in the Wirral who have never seen a black face." No doubt the Tory Government will soon change that! But local Brits insist their kids won't stomach the vindaloo menu. One mum commented: "The Government can stuff their multi-cultural society."

Perverted Race-mix loonies sink to lowest depths: Now their thought-police persecute toddlers

TODDLER Emma Jane Spratt was branded a 'racist' after an innocent squabble with a Chinese boy. The boy's mother, who speaks little English, dialled 999, whereupon a council housing official called on Emma's mum demanding to know if she was a 'racist'.

CURRIE TELLS REDUNDANT BRITS: "GO AND GET A JOB IN CHINA"

Tories' latest own-goal scored by loud-mouth Edwina

A bowl of rice a day. That will be the going rate in the new third-world-style economy of Britain if certain people get their way.

It is in fact something like what the average Chinese worker in his blue Chairman Mao trousers, flip-flops, white T-shirt and company push-bike (if he's lucky) lives on during his working day. It's rice porridge for breakfast, dinner and tea.

MONEY SPIVS

No wonder the big international money spivs are drooling at the chops over the prospect of shipping British capital — and with it the jobs of British workers — out to the pacific rim as fast as possible. Just think of the mark-ups they can expect from mobilising the billion-strong coolie Labour force of the 'People's Republic' of China to make the goods that they now consider us Brits too expensive to employ in making.

ON THE DOLE

Whilst British workers rot on the dole the international finance racketeers are laughing all the way to the bank, always provided things keep fine for them in their Hong Kong money market HQ — something that John Major's crony, Chris Patten, Governor of the Crown Colony, is there to fix up with the communist rulers of Peking who will be taking it over in 1997.

Another one of Major's surviving fans who is all for the idea seems to be attention-grabbing, Maastricht-loving Tory MP Edwina Currie (née Cohen). Just as two more British workers were sacked, this time from a Pirelli Tyre Factory in Burton-on-Trent right on the doorstep of her own Derbyshire constituency, Mrs Currie stood up to suggest they should look for work in China. "It could be a wonderful experience for them," she said.

MOCKING

It wasn't certain whether she was serious or joking, or perhaps simply mocking the workers in Burton who had just been thrown on the tip. At any should be working in China. Of course if the Tories get their way, any Brits who do go to China will be replaced thousands of times over by the millions of Hong Kong Chinese who will be eligible to come to Britain.

Former minister Edwina can't resist shooting her mouth off with stupid statements to the press

Mrs. Currie herself comes from a traditional family background in trade and business where sweated labour and the notion of getting the most for the least has been the norm over a long period. If she's serious it seems she is one of those who is all for having that as the basic principle for organising production and employment — not to mention profiteering on a global scale. As for British workers caught by this treadmill it seems that in her view they're just there to like it or lump it.

British workers will soon be fit only for Chinese-style coolie labour if the Tories get their way

Classroom 'thug' forces 'racist' school to close

TEACHERS SLAM RACE-DEMO 'SCANDAL'

A JUNIOR school in Birmingham has been closed to prevent 'anti-racist' demonstrations after a 'violent' ten-year-old boy was expelled for allegedly injuring a teacher and fighting with other pupils. Isa Stewart (Right) was reinstated at Westminster Junior School, Handsworth after his mother protested to the education authority.

But frightened teachers refused to teach the boy, who has a history of 'behavioral problems'. A behavioral specialist was called in to give him private lessons in the corridor at a cost of £125 a day to the city council.

The boy's mother, backed by a left-wing outfit calling itself the 'African People's Education Group', claimed the teachers were 'racist', and demonstrations were held outside the school by black parents and racial activists.

Following a call by a local pirate reggae station for a mass demonstration, the school was shut down for a week's 'cooling down period'.

A teacher said: "The staff are hurt by racist allegations. Ninety-five per cent of the pupils are black — but he is the only one who threatens teachers and beats up children."

Isa Stewart's mother Pauline warned there would be "hell to pay" if the school did not give in to her demands.

Satellite Euro-porn beamed into Britain

Britain is being bombarded with sick pornography over the airwaves — courtesy of the Tory Government's failure to ban it. The hardcore porn channel known as 'Red Hot Dutch' is being beamed in from Europe via a Manchester-based company called Continental Television, and there are currently 25,000 British subscribers receiving the hardcore material. Pornographers in Britain spend huge amounts of money 'lobbying' Establishment politicians to continue to allow obscene magazines and videos to be sold legally. The sleazy trade is worth millions of pounds a year, and is defended by all the Establishment parties, despite the fact that there is a proven link between pornography and sex crimes. The British National Party is the only party to advocate a total ban on pornography.

COPS LOSING CONTROL

Britain slides into anarchy as vicious crimewave

"I feel sad that someone who joined for the right reasons now feels forced to leave. I always wanted to be a policeman and at first it lived up to all my expectations. In those days the police got a lot of respect. But it's all changed. The violence we suffer has gone off the scale."

Thus spoke Detective Constable Norman Brennan, who quit the Metropolitan Police earlier this year. DC Brennan had just been assaulted for the sixteenth time in fourteen years on the force.

STABBED

His injuries had included being stabbed with a four-inch knife whilst trying to arrest a suspect in Chelsea, and having a screwdriver thrust into his face. He has also had broken bones as a result of trying to break up brawls. After attempting to arrest pickpockets at Victoria Station he was put in hospital with a fractured skull.

A courageous man who has won commendations for bravery, he now says enough is enough.

He isn't alone. He is convinced more policemen like him will leave, sickened by the violence they have to face. "What I have to say," he told the media, "might upset senior officers. But I can now say what many are thinking."

KNIFE ATTACKS

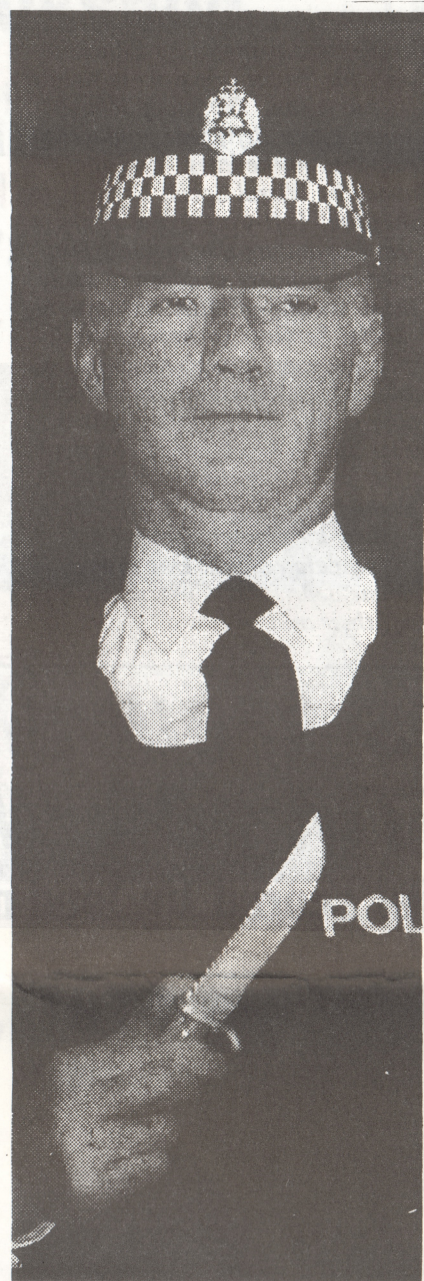

Following the stabbing of Liverpool police woman Leslie Harrison in the heart and the knifing to death of Sergeant Bill Forth of Gateshead, Tyne and Wear, officers started buying their own body armour. In Glasgow blade-proof vests were only issued to the Strathclyde force after 92 serious knife attacks on officers during 1992.

D.C. Brennan said: "I don't feel bitter towards the police, although I think some officers have lost touch. I feel bitter towards the government for not protecting us." The majority of the assaults D.C. Brennan suffered took place from 1981, the year of the inner city riots and the Scarman report.

When he first joined the police there was as yet no requirement for 'political correctness', and most senior officers were still genuine policemen rather than left-wing politicians in blue uniforms, as they have tended to become in the years of Tory rule.

The new style of policing, as introduced by the Tory Government, places heavy emphasis on 'anti-racism', 'anti-sexism', and learning to 'understand' the criminal. Indeed, Metropolitan Commissioner Paul Condon's first public speech was to an 'anti-racist' seminar at the Hendon police training college.

(BELOW) How it SHOULD be done: Until recently our police could still mount crackdowns like this on a Yardie den in North London. But since Operation Dalehouse was closed down for "political reasons" Scotland Yard can no longer even keep tabs on the crack pushers.

Despite overwhelming public support for the death penalty, the Tories have consistently refused to restore capital punishment for child-murderers and terrorists, and almost every week we hear horrific stories of murderers and rapists being let off scot free or given pitifully feeble sentences. Terrorist groups such as the IRA are allowed to operate almost with impunity, even though the security forces could wipe them out within 24 hours if only they were allowed to.

A STRATHCLYDE policeman (Left), wearing body armour, displays a weapon with which he was recently assaulted. One of the most recent stab victims was WPC Leslie Harrison in Liverpool, and a number of other female police officers have been viciously attacked — yet the Tory Government insists on putting women on the front line as part of its insane 'equality' dogma. Recently, a woman prison officer was raped while guarding male prisoners — a task which she should never have been given.

In this climate of weakness, it is no wonder that crime is spiralling out of control. Since 1979, the Tories have consistently taken a soft line on law and order — with tragic results.

SERGEANT Bill Forth of Gateshead, Tyne and Wear (Left), was brutally knifed to death. Criminals nowadays regularly carry knives and firearms as a matter of course, thanks to the ending of capital punishment. They know that there is little chance of being caught, and the penalties are normally pitifully inadequate. The increased use of drugs, as well as the general decline in moral standards and respect for authority, have turned Britain's streets into an urban jungle of crime.

Tories give green light to the Jamaican drug wars now being fought on the streets

It could have been put down easily. Until recently it was.

But then, last November, the Metropolitan Police suddenly shut down Britain's only specialist intelligence unit on the Jamaican drugs gangs known as the 'Yardies'. Until then the flood of the deadly 'crack' cocaine into Britain, together with the violence that it breeds, had at least been contained.

IMMIGRATION

Now, with the end of Scotland Yard's 'Operation Dalehouse', which over the previous 18 months had clobbered at least some of the pushers who the Tories have allowed to swarm into Britain under their policy of unrestricted third world immigration, the crack plague is set to explode on a scale so far seen only in America's Big City Ghettos.

SHOOTING

The shooting of Jamaican pusher Christopher Bourne in Britain in early

MIAMI-style policing (Right) could soon come to Britain

June by rival mobsters finally forced the authorities to admit that the Yardies are back. This was the fourth Yardie killing this year. It would have been the 12th if eight other attempted murders had come off.

GHETTO VIOLENCE

Crack is the mother of ghetto violence. The fortunes of its pushers, who are often addicts themselves, rise and fall with their ability to take and hold territories against rivals. Members of gangs involved in trafficking carry firearms, including automatic weapons, like "badges of hate on their sleeves," as one observer put it.

In the US, according to Dr Larry Birns, Director of the Washington-based Council of Hemispheric Affairs, the West Indian Yardies have displaced the Mafia in the ghettos as the main source of drugs. They are now turning American cities into war zones, executing their rivals in broad daylight on the streets with automatic weapons and hand grenades. Innocent bystanders have been injured and killed in the cross-fire. Drugs-related homicides now stand at 5,500 per year.

As a knock-on effect, crack spurs its addicts to acts of uncontrolled violence — including rape, torture and murder. Britain has seen a foretaste of all this in the crime-ridden Moss-Side ghetto, Manchester. With Operation Dalehouse over, the Yardies now see the whole of this country as 'virgin turf'.

This is the more so since a recent crackdown in Jamaica by a government anxious to protect its tourist trade from the growing violence that was driving visitors away. Unable to operate so freely on their native turf, the Yardies have been looking for fresh fields.

DISBANDED

One London detective commented: "There is now no co-ordination of intelligence since Dalehouse and operations in North and West London were disbanded. Sooner or later innocent people are going to get caught up in this." One Scotland Yard officer had a hair's breadth escape when he was shot through the heart on a drugs raid.

DRUG BARONS

The trade in crack makes big fortunes. The Cocaine peddled by the Yardies comes from Colombian drug barons. They can expect anything up to 800 per cent profit from pushing the crack derivative — worth billions of pounds globally. The dirty cash buys them the BMWs, houses, land and jewellery they like to sport.

The creatures involved migrate regularly from the Caribbean. So lax are Britain's immigration controls that they come and go much as they please. Just as illegal west African and Asian immigrants claiming phoney 'refugee' status are easily pouring into Britain on faked or stolen passports with few questions asked, so can Yardie dealers.

DEPORTED

A case in point was Christopher Bourne who had twice been deported back to Jamaica. Dodgy passports, bought at £3,000 a time, can easily be obtained in Britain by gang members and transmitted to their cronies in the Caribbean.

It appears that Operation Dalehouse was closed down for what police say were "political reasons." It is now traditional Tory policy, established by Margaret Thatcher who commissioned the Scarman report, that rioters, muggers and rapists, if they happen to be black, should be given the freedom of the streets, unhindered by police. It appears that in showing the Yardies a green light Mr Major, a personal friend of the marxist former GLC supremo, Ken Livingstone, is simply going one step further. Both Major and 'Red Ken' have said they believe in making it easier for immigrants to enter the country.

VIOLENCE

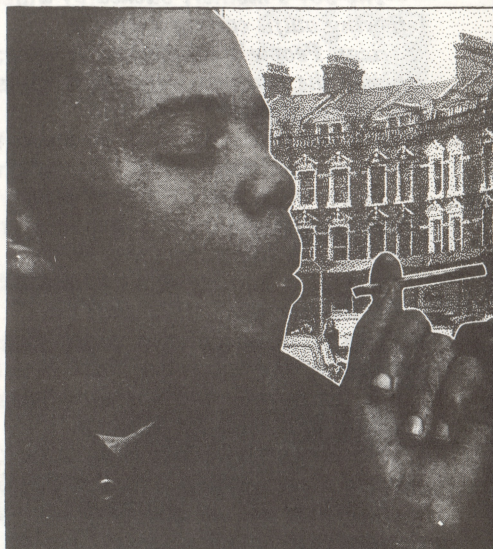

The success of 'Dalehouse', while it lasted, proved that none of this is really necessary. Far from being 'inevitable', Yardie violence could be stopped tomorrow. If the Tory Government chose to end all third world immigration it could be stopped for good.

DEALERS

Meanwhile, one place where crack can be had for the asking is just outside the back door of Greyfriars Police station at a pavement site in Midland Road, Bedford. Most people know the dealers are there. Local traders are said to be fed up to the back teeth.

But police seem powerless to act, although they, too, know all about it. One Officer said: "It's mostly Cannabis, but you can get just about anything down there — crack, straight cocaine, heroin. You name it, it's for sale."

The drug pushers have a gang of four or five black people. They work all day every day except Sundays.

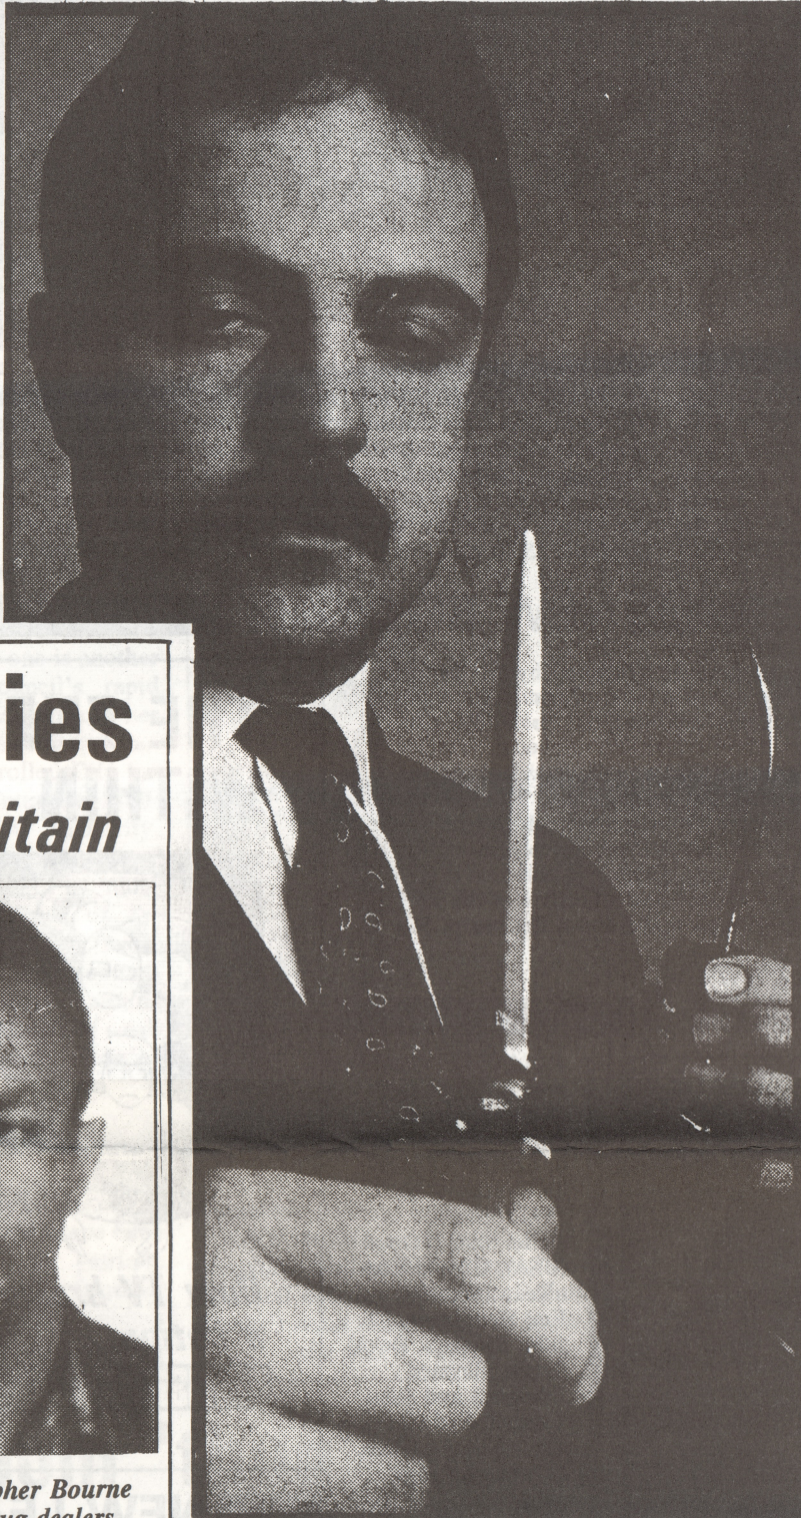

OF BRITAIN'S STREETS

ve explodes from the ghettos

DETECTIVE Constable Norman Brennan (Right) was known as 'Britain's bravest cop' after being assaulted sixteen times in just fourteen years in the police force. He holds some of the vicious weapons with which he has been attacked.

DC Brennan is convinced that more policemen like him will quit the force as crime spirals out of control, and the courts lack adequate powers to deal with violent criminals.

JUDGE Prosser (Above) freed teenage rapist with just a £500 fine

JUDGE Richards (Right) said victim was "in the truest sense asking for it"

JUDGE Leonard (Right) gave vicarage rapists longer sentences for burglary than for rape.

JUDGES SOFT ON RAPE

BRITISH women and children are increasingly at risk from rape and sexual assault. Almost daily we hear horrifying reports of such crimes — yet neither the Government nor the judiciary seem to take rape seriously. Our women-folk and children need protecting from vicious perverts, but all too often the criminals are let off lightly, often with some flippant remark from the judge.

Recently, Judge Ian Starforth Hill freed a man who tried to have sex with an eight-year-old girl. Hill said the girl was "not entirely an angel herself."

VIRGIN

Judge John Prosser freed a teenage schoolboy who raped a young virgin, imposing a £500 fine to pay for the victim to go on holiday.

Judge Bertrand Richards freed a man who raped a 17-year-old, saying the victim was "in the truest sense asking for it" by hitch-hiking alone.

In one of the worst cases, Mr Justice Leonard sentenced two rapists to only five and three years after they broke into an Ealing vicarage and raped the virgin daughter of the vicar. The two men were given five years each for burglary.

The British National Party has called for castration of rapists.

How the BNP would combat crime...

THE BRITISH National Party is the only political party advocating the return of capital and corporal punishment, in agreement with the wishes of the vast majority of the public.

Time after time we hear of vicious rapists, muggers, child-molesters and murderers escaping justice with totally inadequate punishments. In a recent case, a teenager who raped a virgin schoolgirl was given a £500 fine — exactly the same punishment received by another man for dropping an empty crisp packet in the street.

We believe it is time to get TOUGH with criminals. If the perverted scum who rape and murder children were hanged, they would never offend again. If terrorists and other armed criminals faced the same penalty, they would be unlikely to contemplate committing their crimes in the first place. Most violent criminals are bullies and cowards, and the threat of the rope is the best possible deterrent to such creatures.

Young tearaways who steal cars and mug our old folk should be birched; not only as a punishment but also as a deterrent to others contemplating the same actions.

Violent crime is now so commonplace that the criminal justice system can no longer cope. Most petty criminals know that it is highly unlikely that they will be sent to prison, and we now have the ridiculous situation of burglars and car thieves being bailed time after time, only to commit more crime as soon as they are on the streets.

The only place in Britain to retain the birch for such hooligans is the Isle of Man, where juvenile crime as a result is almost unknown.

We realise that tougher punishments are not the only answer to crime. The root cause of Britain's crimewave is the decline in moral standards and respect for authority which began during the 'progressive' 1960s. Since that era, our young people have been encouraged to despise everything which was once thought to be good, from honest patriotism to respect for their elders. If we can reverse this trend, we will be more than half way to halting the crimewave.

TORIES FAIL TO DELIVER ON LAW AND ORDER

Police protest against Government weakness

SO FAR, John Major and his government have managed to offend just about everyone.

The latest group of people whose patience has snapped is Britain's police force. Last month 20,000 officers joined the biggest ever mass protest from the rank and file at Wembley arena.

PROTEST

The protest was organised by the Police Federation to give voice to its rejection of the Sheehy Report, which aims to apply the Tory obsession with 'market forces' to policing.

The Report advocates short-term contracts, 'performance-related pay' and the scrapping of fringe benefits and pensions.

Home Secretary Michael Howard declined to attend the meeting, but instead sent a crawling letter of excuse which was greeted with jeers.

Howard claims to be on the 'right' of the Tory Party, yet rejects the restoration of capital punishment, which is supported by the vast majority of the British people. His performance-related pay scheme would simply be used as a stick with which to enforce left-wing standards of 'political correctness' within the force. The Sheehy Report advocates summary dismissal of officers guilty of 'racism'.

The Government could not have published Sheehy at a worse time. The morale of the police is at an all-time low following the release of the likes of Winston Silcot, the 'Birmingham Six' and the 'Guildford Four'.

UNDERMINED

The authority of the police is continually being attacked and undermined by left-wing agitprop outfits and 'anti-racists'. A recent example was the way that the 'Racial Harassment Forum', a marxist anti-white outfit in the loony-left borough of Hounslow, barred officers from its discussions. Its chairman, a Mr Suresh Grover, who also heads the 'Southall Monitoring Group', said that this was because they were 'racists'.

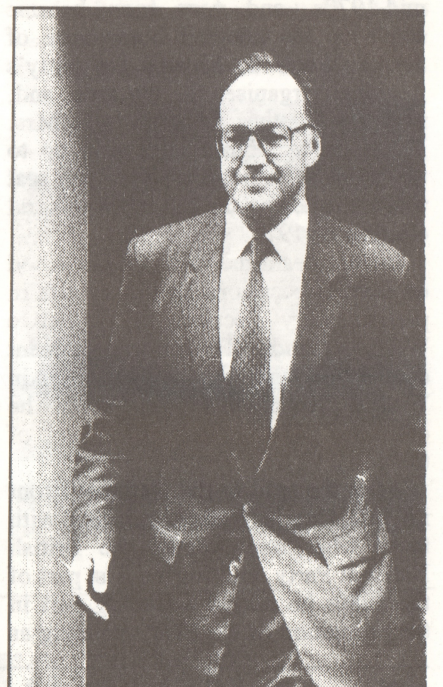

In another example, Senior

Officers, acting on the instructions of the Tory Government, allowed a violent communist mob to attack the BNP bookshop in Welling, during which a number of police officers and members of the public were seriously injured.

PUBLIC RESPECT

The policy of the British National Party regarding Britain's police is that the proper role of the force is to make this country safe to live in. If they are to do this, police officers from top to bottom must be a true elite, carefully hand-picked from among the population, enjoying corresponding public respect. In the Party's view, this means not only having a professional career structure, but also ending the manipulation of the police for left-wing political ends.

If the Police Federation campaigned against 'political correctness' and 'anti-racism' as well as for better pay and conditions, it would regain a large measure of public support which has undoubtedly been lost in recent years.

THE TORIES' answer to the crimewave is Michael Howard. The new Home Secretary is described by the Daily Mail as "the grammar school-educated son of a financially haphazard Romanian Jewish refugee who became a women's draper in Llanelli." Despite this background, Mr 'Howard' seems singularly lacking in 'chutzpah', according to the Independent, he is "viewed as a man of ambition without charisma." As one of his cabinet colleagues put it, "a total cold fish" without much support in the Conservative party.

OBITUARY

Charles Parker, 1914-1993

Charles Parker, former National Organiser of the British National Party, collapsed and died of a heart attack when on holiday in Spain last month. He was 79.

Charles Parker was born in Staffordshire in 1914. He was an engineer by profession and served as a test pilot for the Air Ministry in the Second World War, during which time he lost his right arm.

He joined the National Front in the mid-1970s, and very soon became active in his adopted home area of Sussex. Later he became the party's Regional Organiser for the area, and, working together with his wife Mrs. Violet Parker, built the region up to the point at which every Sussex seat was contested by the NF in the general election of 1979.

In the meantime, Mr. Parker stood on several occasions as a candidate in parliamentary elections in his native West Midlands. The most prominent contest he fought was the by-election in Walsall North in 1976, when he obtained 2,724 votes (7.3 per cent of the poll).

After the split in the National Front in 1980, Charles Parker associated with those who later formed the British National Party, and for the first part of the 1980s he played a leading part in the promotion of the BNP, standing as its parliamentary candidate in Walsall South in the general election of 1983 as well as being a frequent speaker on party platforms. The party will for ever be greatly in his debt for his contribution during this period.

Our condolences over Mr. Parker's death go out to his widow Mrs. Violet Parker and all other close family relatives and friends.

Activists' handbook

BNP ACTIVISTS should look out for the Party's new handbook which will shortly be going into production. The book will contain useful advice on leafleting, literature sales, publicity and branch organisation which will be of considerable value to anyone undertaking regular Party activities.

The BNP has recently been recruiting new members and activists on a scale not seen since the 1970s, and obviously some are less experienced than others in political campaigning.

Compiled by a team of experienced campaigners, the new handbook is designed to help activists use their time efficiently and effectively, and will be a useful weapon in our struggle for power. The expertise which can be passed on by seasoned campaigners to newer activists will prove invaluable, and we strongly urge all activists to obtain a copy of the book as soon as it goes into production. Watch this space for further details.

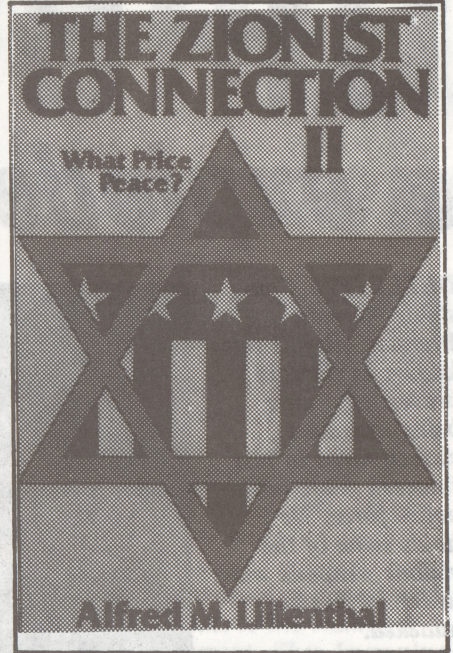

Churchill's War (by David Irving). The highly controversial story of Britain's World War II leader during the late pre-war and wartime years. The writer's theme is that Churchill was the man whose war policy ruined Britain and the British Empire. £16.95 plus £2.12 p&p.

THE CAMP OF THE SAINTS

The Chilling Novel About the End of the White World

CAMP OF THE SAINTS (by Jean Raspail). This sensational novel deals with an Asian invasion of Europe by means of boat landings of millions in France. The story is an horrific picture of what could happen in the future if present 'open-door' policies continue. £5.00 plus 66p p&p.

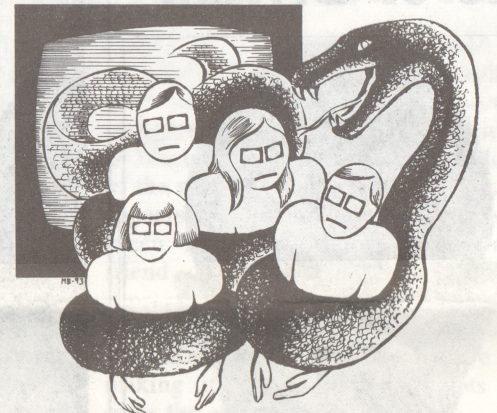

THE ZIONIST CONNECTION II (by Alfred Lilienthal). A sensational and courageous exposure of Zionist power politics by a non-Zionist Jew, this book will open the eyes of many to the methods by which Zionist pressure groups operate. £13.00 plus £1.62 p&p.

NEW BOOKLET

THE ENEMY WITHIN: The latest booklet published by the British National Party, this consists of the text of a letter of complaint to the Broadcasting Complaints Commission following the Public Eye programme on the party in January. The Commission refused to consider the complaint on the ludicrous grounds that it was lodged 'out of time' (actually less than five months after the programme). The booklet, although it deals only with one specific TV programme, highlights the kind of lying and brainwashing techniques that are typical of television and the mass media generally. The Enemy Within is a good item to give out to people who sympathise with the political objectives of the BNP but believe the media smears they have heard about the party. 36p plus 18p p&p.

REBUILD BRITAIN NOW! Latest British National Party leaflet, produced to spearhead the coming phase of the party's 1993 recruiting campaign. Deals with the BNP policies on the main issues affecting the British economy: Imports, the EC, Immigration, Mine closures, etc. It is essential that BNP local units start ordering this leaflet in big quantities and begin mass-distribution of the leaflet — NOW! £4.50 per 1,000 plus postage charges of £4.10 for 1,000 and £4.65 for 2,000.

NEW LEAFLET

REBUILD BRITAIN NOW!

Only the British National Party can rebuild British industry and restore full employment.

- Only the BNP will bring in selective import controls to protect our industries — just as the Japanese do.
- Only the BNP will put an end to Third World immigration, which increases the number of people competing for British jobs.
- Only the BNP will get Britain out of the European Community, which opens the door to European imports.
- Only the BNP will open more coal mines instead of closing them — the BNP will make Britain truly self-sufficient in energy production.
- Only the BNP will back British farmers and fishermen — the BNP will cut a 200-mile limit to protect our fishing fleet from the encroachments of foreign trawlers.
- Only the BNP will supply the massive investment needed to rebuild our lost manufacturing industries.

None of the old parties can provide the leadership that Britain needs. Get Britain back to work — join the BNP now!

JOIN THE WELLING CLUB

Help us to keep fighting for Britain

THE WELLING CLUB is a circle of British National Party supporters who are able and willing to contribute £20 a month to the BNP.

Now that the Party is entering the 'big league' of British politics there is clearly a need for a regular source of income with which to finance necessary expansion.

Money for new equipment, administrative staff, transport and election expenses inevitably becomes more and more necessary as the BNP expands its activities.

Unlike the Establishment parties, the BNP does not receive money from communist trade union barons or alien businessmen, and so all the Party's funds are generated from members and supporters. It is useful to have a regular and reliable source of income each month to enable the Party to meet its financial commitments.

A number of members and supporters have already joined the Welling Club, and the additional source of income has proved most useful.

In return for their monthly £20 contributions, members of the Club will receive regular special news bulletins outlining the Party's progress, and will also be invited free of charge to an annual dinner, which will be addressed by the BNP Chairman.

Those who wish to join the Welling Club should write to: The Welling Club, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW, enclosing their first contribution of £20. Contributions can if desired also be made by bankers order, details of which will be provided on receipt of initial payments.

YOUR LETTERS

Write to: The Editor, British Nationalist, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

Sir: I was interested to read in British Nationalist the letter about the axing of Christian services at schools. In Bradford, the Mecca of the North, this has happened in almost every school. Some schools even have the school sign in Urdu and Punjabi. All this is due to the multi-racialist (anti-white) policy of Bradford's vicarious Labour Council who are even contemplating having a housing advice centre for blacks and Asians only. I wonder what British men who lay dying in the mud of Flanders and on the French beaches would have thought if they were told they were dying for what we are seeing in this country today.

K. WATMOUGH
Bradford.

Sir: On the Radio 4 'Today' show this morning a GP said that doctors' morale is very low. The underlying reason is obvious: They are being forced to play the traitor.

In my doctor's waiting room at the moment there is a child immunisation poster depicting a black boy with his arm around a white girl.

In the receptionist's office is a picture of a line of children aged 3 years, 6 years, 8 years, 10 years and 12 years. The 6 years and 8 years children are black. The black population of Orpington is virtually zero, but the Race Relations Board pressure to integrate the aliens is unrelenting.

M.F. INGRAMS
Kent.

Sir: We occasionally hear debate within the BNP about the 'skinhead' supporters within our movement. The skinheads' detractors argue that the ultra-short hair cuts make skinheads appear overly aggressive and thus may alienate some members of the public.

In my opinion, however, what is worse is young men with long hair. This particular fashion mostly died out after the 1970s, but one still sees it occasionally amongst BNP supporters, and to my mind it looks rather effeminate and left-wing. Shorter hair cuts look much smarter to the public.

W. WEATHERBY

WALES NOW B.N.P. GROWTH AREA

Celtic pride stirs resistance to alien invasion

THE GROWTH of the British National Party in Wales is further proof that Britain's Celts are as patriotic as their Anglo-Saxon cousins.

The BNP has long been a powerful force in Scotland, and also has units in Ulster, so it is particularly pleasing that we can now report an upsurge in activity in Wales.

MEMBERSHIP

Cardiff Unit has doubled its membership this year, as Welsh folk increasingly see through the phoney 'nationalism' (actually separatism) of Plaid Cymru.

It is with typical left-wing hypocrisy that Plaid Cymru professes to despise the tiny number of English people who choose to live in Wales, and yet says nothing about the huge flow of Afro-Asian settlers moving in. It is also curious that while rejecting union with Britain, the separatists would be happy for an 'independent' Wales to be part of the European Community.

BRITISH

Wales has of course been 'British' ever since the Celts settled in these islands thousands of years ago — indeed, the very word 'Britain' is of Welsh origin, and can be compared with the celtic region of Brittany in France.

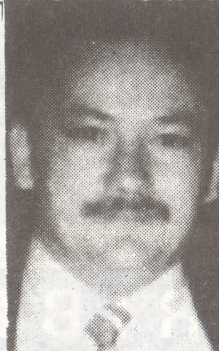

The once proud city of Cardiff was the springboard for BNP growth in Wales, and this year's excellent 3 per cent vote in the Ely district of the city compared favourably with election results achieved in the English boroughs. The vote followed a recent spate of savage race-rioting and a long-running dispute between Asian and white shop-keepers during which a white man was killed.

BNP STRENGTH

Cardiff is not the only area of BNP strength. The Party has recently extended its activities to the valleys of Gwent, in particular the Ebbw Vale and Blaenau areas, much to the anguish of local Establishment politicians.

Following a recent mass leaflet drop, local leftie Hilda Barwell complained to the Gwent Gazette: "It's very unsettling — some people might be open to suggestion." Not to be outdone, Labour MP Llew Smith squealed: "This is an extremist party and as such has nothing to contribute to

*Shopkeeper Les Reed was brutally killed during the Ely race riots, which went largely unreported in the national press.
Local folk protested by

our community." So what has Labour contributed to Wales recently? Or for that matter the other establishment parties? Their only contribution has been mass unemployment. Ebbw Vale was once one of the major industrial areas of the world. Now it is a wasteland.

While bearded Plaid Cymru hippies and Labour intellectuals waffle on about folklore and separatism, only the BNP is addressing the real issues, such as unemployment and immigration; this is why Welsh folk are flocking to join the British National Party.

The red dragon of Wales (RIGHT) now sits proudly next to the BNP symbol. Wales is becoming a major growth area for the Party thanks to the hard work of activists there.

New Cannock Unit storms into action

THE BRITISH National Party's new Cannock Unit has been making good progress since its recent formation. Last month, the Unit occupied the town centre of Cannock for an hour and a half, selling dozens of copies of the party newspaper. The Unit then moved to a nearby council estate where hundreds of copies of the 'Rebuild Britain' leaflet were distributed.

How YOU can help BN

WE ARE PLEASED once again to be able to report an increased number of sales of British Nationalist last month.

BULK ORDERS

The bulk of the increase is being generated by local and regional leaders placing bulk orders of the paper for distribution on activities, and is a pleasing reflection of the increasing number of such activities throughout the country.

British Nationalist can be sold quite legally on street corners, in town centres or outside football matches, providing that sellers do not cause an obstruction.

A particularly useful way to distribute the paper is by door-to-door sales on housing estates. This way, sellers can discreetly note the addresses of people purchasing BN, and such persons will often by the paper again the following month. By this method, a regular 'paper round' can quickly be established, and support built up for future elections.

In certain parts of the country, paper rounds of around two hundred addresses have been built up on some estates.

LOW COST

It costs only £25.65 to buy a hundred copies, and this can easily be recouped by door-to-door sales. Past experience has shown that on an average estate, around a third of households answering the door will buy a copy of the newspaper. Unsold copies can be posted free through letter boxes to generate further interest.

It cannot be emphasised enough how important it is that we improve sales of BN. Most British people receive their news only from the biased and perverted standpoint of the Establishment media, and so it is vital that we give as many people as possible the opportunity to read a genuinely national newspaper.

SALES TARGETS

We are therefore relying on you to help us achieve our sales targets. If you are not already doing so, please place a regular order for at least a hundred copies of BN. Twenty-five pounds a month is not much, especially if the cost is spread between a group of supporters.

We are not only aiming to improve the quantity of copies sold, but also the quality of the newspaper. This again is where local and regional leaders can help. We need local units to send in regular reports, photos and press cuttings of their activities so that our reporters can inform readers of what is going on around the country.

Reports should be addressed to the Editor and sent to the Welling PO Box.

The Editor is also attempting to improve 'readability' of the newspaper by introducing shorter articles, more pictures, and more 'human interest' stories to encourage greater sales and a regular readership.

The BNP also has units in Hounslow & Staines, Redbridge, Barking & Dagenham, Southend-on-Sea, Isle of Sheppey, Reading, Gloucestershire, Bristol & Bath, Bournemouth, Stevenage, Bedford, Stourbridge, Coventry, Grantham, Ilkeston, North Wales, Bolton & Bury, Batley, Hull, York, Skipton, Tees-side, Sunderland, Stirling & Alloa, Fife, Cumbernauld, Greenock, Lanarkshire, Ayr, Cumnock (Ayrshire), Inverness and Belfast. If you want to make contact with any of these units, or start a new unit, please write to BNP Head Office at PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

LONDON ELECTION ALERT

Help needed urgently in by-election campaign

THE BRITISH National Party is fighting an extremely important by-election in the Isle of Dogs, Millwall Ward, London.

IMPORTANCE

The election is of great importance because it is in the same area where BNP candidate Barry Osborne won 20 per cent of the vote last year.

The election is due to take place on September 16th, and it is essential that maximum effort is put into the final few days canvassing.

The reaction from voters on the doorstep has so far been very favourable, and the Party is expecting a good vote — if enough canvassing work is put in beforehand.

If the BNP achieves another good result, there is likely to be considerably more media exposure as a bonus.

In this important part of the London the BNP has already become a major part of the political scene, and large numbers of people now find it quite 'normal' to be voting for the Party; thanks to hard work by dedicated activists, we are no longer part of the political wilderness.

Those wishing to help should contact their local unit or phone the bookshop as soon as possible.

LANCASHIRE ELECTIONS

The BNP put up three candidates for elections in Lancashire early this month, the results of which have not reached us in time to catch our printing deadline.

Full reports on these will be published next month.

Paper sale in East Herts

East Herts was the venue for a successful BNP paper sale last month.

The 25-strong sales team formed up in Hertford town centre at 11am, and were soon doing a brisk trade with locals. A small group of reds quickly fled when they saw the strength of the BNP.

The group later moved on to Waltham Cross, where they sold more papers and distributed leaflets. Local folk told the BNP that they were pleased to see the Party in the area.

B.N.P. WINS T.V. COVERAGE IN MIDLANDS TEMPLE PROTEST

ON SATURDAY, 31st July, the British National Party held a highly successful Day of Action in Tividale, near Birmingham, which was filmed by BBC2 television for a programme about the Party.

The programme will detail the growth of the BNP in the West Midlands as a result of our campaign in support of local residents who are opposed to the building of a huge Hindu temple in Tividale.

DISTRIBUTION

The day started with a mass leaflet distribution on a housing estate at the side of the proposed temple site. Our 60-strong team (BELOW) then assembled on the site and support for our campaign was expressed by local folk who sounded their car horns and gave the thumbs-up.

The BNP then moved to another area close by where another alien temple (a mosque) is planned. Local residents are dismayed at the prospect of the noise and disturbance from the mosque. People came out of their houses to give our activists encouragement and to congratulate them.

Later, a group of sub-human hostiles appeared, but fled when they saw the large number of BNP supporters.

Our thanks go to those who made the day such a huge success.

ANNUAL RALLY

November 6th!

This is to inform all readers that the British National Party's Annual Rally for 1993 will be held in the London area on Saturday, November 6th.

Details of how to get to the rally will be given later. In the meantime we urge all those wishing to attend to keep the date free. BNP branches should begin NOW organising their members to get to the event!

OFFICERS, ACTIVISTS AND MEMBERS EDUCATION AND TRAINING SEMINARS CENTRAL LONDON

The seminars mentioned above are part of a programme now being mounted by the British National Party for the purpose of training activists in political education and organisational techniques. It is intended soon to spread the London training programme throughout the country. Interested persons should contact their local unit or the BNP Bookshop for details.

What we stand for

- The establishment of a government of national unity that will put an end to nationally divisive party warfare; the return of leadership and statesmanship to British affairs.
- An end to immigration and a start to repatriation.
- British withdrawal from the Common Market
- The disbanding of the multi-racial Commonwealth and its replacement by a new Commonwealth of self-governing white states.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- Protection of British industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- An end to the financial swindle that causes inflation and slump, and its replacement by a sane and fair financial system that will give the people the purchasing power to buy the goods they produce.
- The subordination of the power of the City to the power of government, and the harnessing of the City to the needs of British industry.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum possible self-sufficiency in food production.
- Rejection of both the poll tax and its substitute, the new 'property tax', and a return to the old rates system, though with fairer rebates allowing for differences in income and in the numbers occupying properties.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside and an end to the architectural disfigurement of our towns and cities.
- Tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and the sacking of 'trendy' teachers.
- An alternative defence strategy: withdrawal from NATO, closure of all foreign military and air bases in Britain, the strengthening of Britain's defences and a position of armed neutrality.
- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, the termination of the Anglo-Irish Agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- Repeal of the laws permitting homosexuality and abortion (except where the latter is the result of rape or necessary on medical grounds), the wiping out of AIDS and a return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.
